

"One of the best mediators I have come across in over 20 years practice at the Bar. She is on top of her brief, and understanding yet firm with parties."

Mediation experience

Rebecca is a talented, well-respected mediator and was also (until June 2024) Chair of the Civil Mediation Council. Listed in both Chambers & Partners and The Legal 500 as a Leading Mediator, Rebecca is particularly commended for her calm and empathetic style, combined with robust legal or commercial challenge where needed. Described as "superb," "outstanding" and "a credit to her profession," she encourages parties to take a risk-based approach to actively manage conflict and disputes, whilst managing difficult conversations with sensitivity and insight.

Prior to becoming a mediator, Rebecca was Head of Litigation at a so-called "bad bank" where she was awarded Legal Counsel of the Year 2013, partly as a result of her novel approach to resolving classes of disputes by mediation. As a result, Rebecca's insight into mediation as a mediating party is unparalleled. Before working in-house, Rebecca set up and managed her own retail business from set up to sale, giving her a genuine understanding of the pressures of owning and managing your own business and the impact disputes can have on the financial management of a company. She has also worked as a solicitor in private practice.

Rebecca mediates a wide range of commercial disputes including shareholder, insolvency, warranty claims, breach of contract and breach of duty. Because of her previous employment, Rebecca is particularly experienced in financial services, professional negligence and regulatory litigation. She is also sought after for her SME and family business mediation experience, where her ability to connect inter-generationally with parties to a dispute, combined with her own business experience, helps move parties towards resolution. Most recently, Rebecca has worked with parties to develop dispute avoidance strategies, facilitating discussions and devising processes for projects in the investment fund management, manufacturing and recruitment industries. She is also on the Court of Appeal mediation scheme panel.

Rebecca is very interested in the psychology of mediation and negotiation generally and regularly speaks at seminars and conferences on the subject.

Mediation style (quotations from clients)

Rebecca's style adapts to the needs of the parties and the nature of the dispute. Equally confident being firm and directive, or providing gentle challenge, Rebecca is agile in approach whilst encouraging parties to focus on a practical outcome. Praised for her thorough preparation, intelligence and ability to build rapport quickly, Rebecca is especially noted for her skill in managing highly sensitive and emotional situations calmly and with compassion.

- She listened when needed, she moved things forward when needed. She was collaborative and problem solving focused. She made it a team effort. She was devoid of ego. She was superb.*

- Rebecca has an exceptional ability to identify what really matters to the parties and to help build bridges where there was previously no prospect of doing so. This was the hardest fought mediation I have done and Rebecca kept everyone together when, at times, there was a real risk of it falling apart.
- One of the best mediators I have come across in over 20 years practice at the Bar. She is on top of her brief, and understanding yet firm with the parties.
- Rebecca quickly identified potential issues causing an impasse and was able to offer constructive ideas to navigate these issues. Rebecca also built a strong rapport with the clients early, putting them at ease during a stressful time. This enabled our clients to feel comfortable in being frank and open about their case to progress settlement. I am doubtful that such a deal could have been concluded with Rebecca's assistance.
- I thought Rebecca was excellent; very measured, and you felt she was fully invested in achieving a satisfactory outcome for both parties.
- Excellent at explaining the process and putting [clients] at their ease. She kept the atmosphere calm and professional and ensured no stone was unturned in the search for a resolution. I was very impressed with Rebecca. I would happily recommend her.

Directories (independently – researched clients' opinions)

Legal 500

2024: Rebecca Clark is described as 'tenacious, energetic and articulate in encouraging the parties to narrow the gaps between them and reach an agreement'. Clark mediates a wide range of commercial disputes, but is particularly well known for her financial services expertise and disputes involving SMEs. In addition to being appointed as a member of the Court of Appeal specialist mediator panel in October 2021, Clark became the Chair of the Civil Mediation Council in June 2022, the first female mediator and non-judicial holder of such office.

2023: Rebecca Clark is 'one of the best mediators I have come across in over 20 years practice at the Bar. She is on top of her brief, and understanding yet firm with the parties'. Clark mediates a wide range of commercial disputes, but is particularly well known for her financial services expertise and disputes involving SMEs. In addition to being appointed as a member of the Court of Appeal specialist mediator panel in October 2021, Clark became the Chair of the Civil Mediation Council in June 2022, the first female mediator and non-judicial holder of such office.

2022: Establishing her mediation practice in 2015, Rebecca Clark is 'very personable and quickly builds strong relationships; she is calm and willing to go the extra mile to achieve a settlement'. Clark experienced a 50% increase in instructions in 2020, her recent work highlights including resolving a complex international shipping reinsurance claim between a Nigerian PLC and a UK insurance broker.

2021: Rebecca Clark 'is the perfect fit for a mediation requiring sensitivity; her calm and methodical approach sets the correct tone'. Clark established her mediation practice in 2015; she recently successfully mediated a significant claim for losses (by a company and its directors) against a major UK lender, which allegedly withdrew banking facilities without authorisation.

2020: Rebecca Clark is 'a highly impressive mediator who just gets it – she has empathy, gets into the detail and her hard work ethic commands the respect of both sides, which then unlocks opportunities for resolution'. Clark is a full-time mediator, who is particularly known for her expertise in financial services and SMEs; she has also developed a reputation for handling particularly emotional disputes, such as those involving family businesses and trusts. Highlights included an international claim between parties to a joint venture agreement.

Chambers & Partners

2024: Rebecca Clark of Independent Mediators displays particular strength in financial services-related disputes. She is routinely called upon to handle matters concerning professional negligence, insolvency and fraud, among others. "Rebecca is very good at getting to the bottom of what's really in dispute. She's very good at cutting through the legal side of it and getting to the nub of the more emotional side. She's also great at identifying whether it's worth pursuing a legal point or whether we're looking at more of a personal legal matter." "Rebecca's really friendly, charming and very easy to work with. She gets on very well with all the parties and solicitors but at the same time is perceptively steely. She wants to get a resolution and is incredibly tenacious and will not give up. She's innovative, flexible and great to work with." "She's very good at getting the parties engaged and thinking how best to solve a problem. She's really excellent." "Rebecca Clark is very good and manages to complete settlements keeping everyone calm. She is much in demand, like all good mediators."

Direct feedback from clients

The following quotes are from parties Rebecca has recently mediated with:

"Rebecca was all over the detail and well prepared. Rebecca was personable and listened to all points being made without judgment, whilst putting forward comments to test the positions adopted. I would thoroughly recommend Rebecca and would be happy to use her for future mediations."

"She controlled the sometimes heated meetings very well. It was good to get a resolution to a protracted and entrenched dispute"

"The mediator was excellent and kept momentum and dialogue going to an agreed outcome"

"Rebecca is measured and a skilled mediator."

"The mediation ran very smoothly and as efficiently as it could have done. Rebecca frequently reiterated the need for constructive thought processes."

"Really got the emotion on the day and handled that extremely well in what was a particularly sensitive and emotional dispute".

"Very understanding of the delicate emotional circumstances of this case."

"She listened when needed, she moved things forward when needed. She was collaborative and problem solving focused. She made it a team effort. She was devoid of ego. Mediator superb".

"I thought she was really excellent. Great at seeing things from both sides, she was very astute as to the issues between the parties and their motivations and thought she moved things along very nicely...Rebecca's perseverance ensured a successful result which I am not sure would have been possible had the parties been left to their own devices." (Partner, City Law Firm, October 2021)

"She was excellent in all respects. When there were some tetchy moments between the parties, she was very good at trying to explain each side's perspective and moved the discussion along nicely."

"I have used many mediators over the years – Rebecca was one of the best."

"I thought she handled the different characters very well and her judgment of when to push versus when not to push was very good...she was excellent under very difficult circumstances."

"Just wanted to quickly say thanks again for your fantastic involvement yesterday. It was a very fraught situation that could only be settled prior to trial with the aid of some very smooth and sympathetic mediating."

"Both prior to and throughout the mediation the mediator was superb. She displayed the highest possible standards of professionalism... Her fair but firm approach ensured the mediation was conducted to the highest standards and was a level playing field for all concerned. In short she is a credit to her profession, to IPOS and to herself."

Rebecca Clark's enthusiasm and experience were apparent from communications prior to the day of the mediation. Rebecca's thorough preparation and charisma meant that my clients were quickly put at ease. Rebecca Clark is a "go to" mediator for financial services disputes and other complicated disputes.

"I always suggest Rebecca now because she seems to build relationships better and more quickly than others. This was crucial on such a short mediation. We were also really pleased that the technology worked perfectly."

"Rebecca has an exceptional ability to identify what really matters to the parties and to help build bridges where there was previously no prospect of doing so. This was the hardest fought mediation I have done and Rebecca kept everyone together when, at times, there was a real risk of it falling apart."

"A very good result; identified early what was needed to reach resolution, identified that the emotional side rather than monetary figures needed to be addressed at the outset. Rebecca was exactly the right mediator for the day."

"The opening session was managed incredibly well. Rebecca's opening remarks set the scene perfectly and encouraged an open and upfront session that cut through the issues quickly. Rebecca's approach was ideal – very measured in her delivery and made useful comments to assist the parties in progressing negotiations. First rate in every aspect of the day."

"I was particularly impressed with the points that Rebecca made during our confidential discussions (when we were evaluating the arguments and the risks). Her understanding of the issues and risks and assessment of them was spot on. I would definitely instruct her again."

"Rebecca was excellent – pre-mediation conversations with the parties worked well. She was good at working with the individual parties and managing that relationship. I would definitely recommend her"

"She knew how to get the balance right between discussing the issues and talking money" I have already recommended her to a colleague.

"The mediator was robust in putting points from the other side to my client who had been unwilling to accept weaknesses in his case. I was very impressed overall with her."

"Rebecca was clearly focused on getting a deal and worked tirelessly towards that. It was amazing we secured the result we did and Rebecca really helped with that. The client was very pleased

"Rebecca helped us to achieve a resolution to a difficult, long running and complex dispute. I will seek to use her again."

Rebecca dealt particularly well "with what was a fairly fiery opening joint session between strong personalities on both sides. I would instruct her again."

Rebecca was "very well prepared, I was very impressed, we got a resolution quickly from a very difficult opening position." I would definitely recommend her to colleagues.

"I just wanted to say thank you for navigating this at times painful mediation for us. I'm sure that without your input we would not now have a deal."
